TO MY SHORTHORN CATTLE BREEDER FRIENDS

Again it is our pleasure to extend a cordial invitation to all interested in Shorthorn cattle to be present at our annual sale.

Visitors from the States and Canada who have called at the farm in the past year declare we have the best herd of cows that they have ever seen together. With pride Maxwalton offers to the lovers of Shorthorn cattle, sons and daughters from such cows sired by the best bulls we have been able to secure. We feel confident that the cattle listed in our sale will in every way measure up to Maxwalton production.

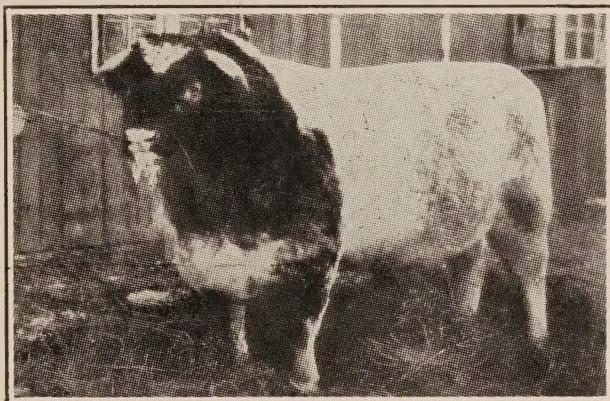

We feel sure that you will be pleased with the bulls, heifers and cows that are listed to sell at this time. Shorthorn values are decidedly to the buyer's advantage at present, and they are certain to be good investments to those who place them on the farm under existing conditions. We are glad to offer the type of cattle that we know will be of great service to the buyer and will also aid in improving the Shorthorn breed.

Maxwalton's Contribution to Shorthorn Improvement

Shorthorn admirers who are familiar with the record of the breeds' progress in the past 25 or more years will readily admit that few herds, if any, surpass the record at Maxwalton.

The notable achievements made by this firm in outstanding constructive improvement were largely due to that greatest of all breeding bulls, Avondale, and his outstanding sons, such as Revolution and others mated to as richly bred matrons as Aberdeenshire and America produced.

Knowing what this line of blood accomplished for the old Maxwalton Herd, Reid Carpenter, when he decided to re-engage in the breeding of Shorthorns at Maxwalton, chose either Maxwalton bred matrons or the direct descendants of such for the maternal foundation females for the present herd. He followed the same guidance in choosing the stock bulls, one of them, Browndale Golden Victor, being a son of the great Browndale Count whose sire Browndale is by Avondale. The other is Maxwalton Browndale by Browndale Excelsior, also a lineal descendant of Avondale, and whose dam is by Revolution. The blood lines of these bulls make possible the carrying out of a constructive policy of line breeding which I predict will enable the Maxwalton herd to contribute a more desirable class of Shorthorns in the years ahead than has been true of any period in the past.

As one who was familiar with the achievements of the old Maxwalton herd during the entire period of its existence; as one who had exceptional opportunities to note the effects of this blood in that, as well as many other herds, and knowing the unusual uniformity in type, the attractive breed characteristics so outstanding in the new Maxwalton herd, I feel that I am completely within bounds when I assert that those who will make selections of a breeding bull or a few females from the forthcoming sale, the first auction from the new Maxwalton herd, will be acquiring breeding stock which is certain to result in marked improvement in its new environment. Its performance in the past is the assurance of satisfaction in the future.
